DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

1. Claims 1-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Birdwell et al (U.S. 6,108,706) and Robinson (U.S. 6,618,585 B1)

2. As per claims 1, 9-11, 19, 22, 23 & 26 Birdwell disclosed a method of accessing information on a computer network on a communication device, the device being capable of communicating with a first communications network (col.3, lines 10-44) and receiving a signal from a second communications network, the method comprising (col.3, lines 63-67 & col.4, lines 1-10); receiving, via the second network, unsolicited information from the computer network, wherein the information contains an identifier identifying further information on the computer network (col.3, lines 63-67 & col.4, lines 1-10). However Birdwell did not explicitly disclose requesting, via the first network, further information from the computer network, wherein the further information is based on the received identifier; and receiving the further information via one of the first or second network.

In the same field of endeavor Robinson disclosed requesting, via the first network, further information from the computer network, wherein the further information is based on the received identifier; and receiving the further information via one of the first or second network (col.3, lines 42-67 & col.4, lines 1-20).

At the time the invention was made it would have been obvious to one in the ordinary skill in the art to incorporate requesting information based on received identifier via first or second network as disclosed by Robinson in the method of accessing information on a computer network on a communication device as disclosed by Birdwell to make the device more versatile and flexible resulting in reliable multi-connectivity to a communications networks.

3. As per claims 2, 4 & 12 Birdwell-Robinson disclosed the device of claim 9, 10 or 11, wherein the second communications network is a broadcast network, and wherein the receiver is adapted to receive the unsolicited information via the broadcast network (Birdwell, col.3, lines 23-31 & col.3, lines 40-43).

4. As per claims 3 & 13 Birdwell-Robinson disclosed the device of claim 9, 10 or 11, wherein the first communication network is a telecommunications network, and wherein the transceiver is adapted for use with the telecommunications network (Birdwell, col.3, lines 10-16).

5. As per claims 5 & 14 Birdwell-Robinson disclosed the device of any of claims 9 to 13 wherein the unsolicited information contains a content identifier, and further comprising a memory for storing, on the device, a list of content identifiers of interest (Birdwell, col.4, lines 66-67 & col.5, lines 1-46).

6. As per claims 6 & 15 Birdwell-Robinson disclosed the device of claim 14, further comprising a filter for filtering the received unsolicited information to remove any information not having a content identifier in the list of content identifiers (Birdwell, col.5, lines 26-46).

7. As per claims 7 & 16 Birdwell-Robinson disclosed the method of claim 1 or 2, wherein the second communication network is digital video broadcast terrestrial (DVB-T) network, and wherein the steps of receiving via the second network are adapted for receiving via the DVB-T network (Birdwell, col.3, lines 23-31, col.3, lines 40-43 & col.4, lines 25-34).

8. As per claims 8 & 17 Birdwell-Robinson disclosed the method of 1 or 2, wherein the first communication network is a cellular network; and wherein the step of receiving via the further information is adapted to receive via the cellular network (Birdwell, col.3, lines 10-16 & col.4, lines 5-9).

9. As per claim 18 Birdwell-Robinson disclosed the device of claims 9, 10 or 11, wherein the communication device is a portable communication device (Birdwell, col.4, lines 10-12).

Art Unit: 2143

10. As per claim 20 Birdwell-Robinson disclosed the system of claims 9, 10 or 11, further comprising a database of user profiles for storing a list of information categories determined to be of interest to the users (Birdwell, col.2, lines 21-28 & col.6, lines 20-32).

11. As per claim 21 Birdwell-Robinson disclosed the system of claim 20, further comprising a broadcast transmitter for transmitting information from the computer network to users determined to be interested in the information (Birdwell, col.3, lines 23-31 & col.3, lines 40-43).

Response to Arguments

12. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-23 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
